

See New York City in a Different Light aboard a City Lights Cruise

New York City's skyline is perhaps the most photographed skyline in the world. Unless you're at the top of the Empire State Building or flying in a plane, you won't be able to really appreciate the depth and beauty of the wonder of the New York skyline. That is, until, you board one of the amazing City Lights cruises that sail around New York City harbor.

The City Lights cruises have six ships in their fleet. Each ship is outfitted with the amenities that you would expect upon a top rated cruise ship. You'll find yourself dancing to music from a long list of top D.J.s on a number of different dance floors, enjoying a wide variety of drinks, and dining on the finest food in a buffet type setting overlooking the picturesque New York skyline. Each ship offers a different ambiance, but for the most part, all the amenities are the same.

With City Lights cruises, you can choose from three different types of cruise options. There is the Yacht party cruise that is the most popular choice. It provides a real New York party atmosphere, one you won't want to miss. These ships come equipped with large dance floors and recreational areas, perfect for the most talked about New York party around; your friends will rave about the party for months to come. If you're looking for something a bit more subdued, try a Harbor party cruise. This cruise option provides a more personal environment for the quieter party (smaller ships), but still offers two amazing dance floors. If "elite" is your cup of tea, sail aboard a Premium party cruise. It mimics a five-star cruise ship environment, complete with the finest dining rooms and lounges imaginable. It's the ultimate in extraordinary New York party settings.

Cruises of the New York skyline last approximately three hours. Prices are extremely reasonable and range from about $50 to $80 per person (includes two drinks). The cruise line is so popular among locals that most of the passengers are locals especially on the Yacht party cruise ship. And with New Yorkers being such a tough group to please, you know that the City Lights cruises deliver.
